New CD Warning Test Is Scheduled

Residents should listen fully and memorize the sound of the Civil Defense signal horns they sound next week—and pray they never hear them.

Ken Whitfield, local Director of Civil Defense, said yesterday they would be tested Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday morning at 10:00, and be sounded again only in event of enemy attack or a alert.

Whitfield said the signal horns possibly be used during a wide CD drill, but if so, would be advance notice in newspapers. He said if the horns are sounded without advance warning, it is the "real thing and you'd better take cover."

The signal horns have been installed atop the water tower through the efforts of United Gas City officials, and Civil Defense Fire Auxiliary.

Whitfield said the signals are as follows:

ALERT (Yellow):
Blast, Steady

for 5 minutes

BACK ALERT (Red)
Blast, Wavy

for 5 minutes
take cover!

CLEAR (White):
Short Blasts

2 minute blasts
1 min. apart

cannot overemphasize the importance of these signals," Whitfield said. "These are the official signals, and following the test at 10 o'clock Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday morning, will not be sounded again except for official test of a CD practice drill or alert for enemy attack."

Notice will be given in the press of the date and time the horns will blow in any practice drill.

Hunting Season Set Wool Growers To Meet May 6

Hancock County Hunters and Fishermen Association was represented this week at the general meeting of the State Game Commission in Jackson by Jack Ladner, president of the local association, Claiborne Ladner and Lucas Puche.

Jack Ladner reported a late dove season for Hancock County, with a probable opening either Oct. 15 or Nov. 1.

A request for a 7 day season for deer is expected to be granted.

Squirrel season will open Nov. 1. In a general vote on the opening of the squirrel season, the southern representation voted 2 to 1 against the representation from the northern part of the state in obtaining this opening date.

A request for a spring teal duck season will be taken to Washington to the National Wildlife Commission by W. Creekmore, State Game Commissioner. Duck and quail will have the same open season as last year.

WINS SCIENCE AWARD

Phyllis Allison, 16 year old junior student at Bay High School, won over State competition last week in Meridian in the Science Awards given by the Mississippi Academy of Science in conjunction with the American Association of Science.

A $250 scholarship to any major college in the State was the award won by Phyllis. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Allison of this city.

A Science Fair was held last week in Meridian, where high school students from the entire state entered into the competition for the awards.

Phyllis has been an outstanding student of Bay High School, which she has attended from the grammar grades.

She won a $25 US Savings Bond and a medal given by the American Legion on an essay entitled "What is Americanism?"

Mrs. Russell Tops Flower Show

Mrs. Dan Russell walked off with top honors at the Annual Spring Flower Show of the Bay Waveland Garden Club last week at the Yacht Club.

Winning five blue ribbons, Mrs. Russell was awarded the Sweepstakes ribbon and also the Tricolor for her beautiful arrangement of greenery in a wooden container.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hava were also tri-color winners with their entry of the rare and exquisite pink crinum lily.

Mrs. J. W. Hill Jr. was awarded a blue ribbon on behalf of the Long Beach Garden Society for her entry of an arrangement in white.

Cultivated and wild flowers were displayed as well as foliage, driftwood and potted plants. There were classes for vegetables and fruits, arrangements, horticulture and corsages.

The Junior Division of the Garden Club was a credit to the organization with their numerous and fine entries.

A color wheel displaying the colors of the spectrum made of soft gauze material fanned out to tables giving the color arrangements for the placing of the blooms. The decorations of the Yacht Club were done by Mrs. Dan Russell, Mrs. Thomas Scaffidi and Mrs. Bernard Farvelly.

Mrs. C. Newton was chairman of the event. Judges were Mrs. Melvin Nes, Mrs. D. B. Fitzroy and Mrs. Dewey Regan, all of Biloxi.

Laughter rang the rafters of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre Tuesday night at a preview of "Charlie's Aunt," which opens tonight for a three-night run—Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The hilarious comedy is the theatre's first presentation of the 1955 season.

From the opening curtain until the finale it was hard to keep up with the clever dialogue as the mirth provoking comedy unfolded. Laughter was loud and long, not alone for the comedy of words but the absurd situations and costumes of a by-gone era provoked much of the mirth.

Starring in the role of Charlie's Aunt from Brazil "where the nuts come from" is Robert Laffer, who was first seen in this theatre in "The Cat and the Canary." He does a fine job with this difficult comedy role, and carries through with the aptness of a trained professional.

Jim Pfeiffer and Gary Taylor as the two college chums of "Charlie's Aunt" prove valuable assets as newcomers to these boards. Pfeiffer hits the pace for the show and does a very excellent job, and does Taylor, as the younger and more bashful young college man in love. It is the efforts of these actors from pictures which she acquired of this building. No detail of work is overlooked by this talented designer of sets.

N. L. Carter as the retired Indian Colonel gives a polished performance, and his suave and extremely Victorian manner are a direct contrast to the roles of the other performers that lends a refreshing contrast to the characters.

Phillip Allison, who has played many roles and is a favorite with the local members, gives one line Klefer.

Bob Mathias Stars in Story of His Own Life

One of the most outstanding American athletes in world sports, brings his own dramatic success story to the screen Sun, Mon. and Tues. at the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre.

"The Bob Mathias Story" racks up another hit for Allied Artists in a triple-life story which combines action, drama, humor and romance.

There are many facets of interest in this story of the only athlete ever to win the Olympic decathlon championship twice.

For one, Bob Mathias, now 23 years old, plays himself. He not only duplicates for the Hollywood cameras the athletic feats which brought him world fame, but reveals himself as a competent actor with ease and naturalness in the dramatic part of the story.

His sweetheart and wife is played with equal competence by his real-life wife, Melba Mathias.

Two Of St. Joseph's Own
Become Brides Of Christ
AS BRIDES
Mrs. Jung is the former Mary Radford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Radford, former residents of Bay St. Louis, who are now making their home in Mobile.
The bride and groom were married at the St. Joseph's church in Mobile, Ala., April 22 at 10 a.m. The wedding was celebrated by Rev. Fr. J. J. Carr,
S.J., pastor of the church.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wilcox, of Clermont Harbor, Miss. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Carr, of Clermont Harbor, Miss.
The ceremony was a simple
one, with only a few friends present. The bride wore a traditional white gown, and the groom wore a dark suit.
The wedding was celebrated in the traditional manner.
The bride and groom will begin their married life in Mobile, Ala.

ROSE MARIE CUEVAS AND FRANKIE HEWES are pictured above
in the traditional bridal gown before receiving the Holy Habit.

SISTER MARY FREDERICK (in background), SISTER ST. AGNES (front right) are shown in the processional as they enter the Church.

On the Feast of St. Joseph two former graduates of S.J.A., Rose Marie Cuevas and Frances Hewes, received the habit of Sisters of St. Joseph in a very beautiful and impressive ceremony in the chapel of St. Joseph in New Orleans.
The girls entered the crowded chapel wearing white bridal gowns, and carrying lighted candles signifying their burning love for Christ. Before each candidate walked a little girl carrying a basket which contained the Holy Habit that the postulant had sewed by hand while awaiting this glorious day.
The chapel was filled with the beautiful singing of the sisters from New Orleans.
After the High Mass the postulant rose and ascended the altar steps. In unison they asked the Reverend Father if they could receive the habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph. Father then gave them the baskets containing the habits. After descending the steps, they left the chapel, the little girls following with the baskets in their hands.
While the postulants changed their bridal gowns for the garb
of the religious, three selections were sung by the choir.
The music reached a crescendo,
and in walked the postulants now dressed as nuns. They ascended the steps to receive their names.
Frankie Hewes received the name of Sister Mary Frederick,
the name of her father; Rose Marie Cuevas became Sister St.
Agnes, the name of the first postulant from Bay St. Louis.
Then leaving the chapel, the novices, with radiant smiles and hearts filled with love, entered into the Canonical year.

Safe electric wiring does not necessarily remain safe. It is good insurance to periodically examine carefully every foot of electric wiring. Look for loose connections, damaged insulation, rusty or broken surfaces and loose switch box connections.
Fires of "undetermined origin"
are sometimes suspected to be caused by neglected electrical wiring.
Lightning rods are effective in protecting buildings against lightning damage. However, such systems can be worse than useless if ground connections are loose or broken. The grounding rod must be firm in the soil and extended downward to perpetually moist earth. Connections to the grounding rod must be absolutely tight
and metal to metal.
By keeping personal and fire hazards constantly in mind while working around the farm, most hazards can be discovered and eliminated.

MULCHING
Most home gardeners know the value of a good mulch. It helps keep down weeds, reduces heat on roots of plants and tends to help hold moisture in the soil.
Mulching also is a valuable aid
in putting cover on ugly eroded land. Mulching protects the area from further eroding while seed and fertilizer do a repair job on the land.
Mulches of damaged hay, straw, pine branches are inexpensive and simple to use. By preventing washing of the soil, they hold the cover crops, seed and fertilizer in place. The mulches give young plants an added boost by holding moisture in the soil and protecting them from drying effects of sun and wind.

RECORDS
One of the best hand tools a Mississippi farmer can use this year is a lead pencil. This pencil should be used for keeping a complete set of farm records.
To be of maximum value, farm records should contain inventories both at the beginning and end of the year; production records on crops and livestock; a record of farm expenses; a record of sales and other cash receipts; and a summary at the end of the year.
To keep a usable farm record,

MY TOWN

Upon the Gulf of Mexico
Away down South in Dixie,
There lies a little Gulf Coast town.

You may think I'm small,
It's not thought of as quite so small.

By those like me who love it;
Bay St. Louis it's called by all.
Even those who come to visit.
Its fame is not so very wide,
But still I'm thankful for it,
That so long as it's here at all
My town will still be so small.

Each year producers find more natural gas than we use...even though the consumption of this premium fuel continues to grow rapidly. The producer may spend over a million dollars on one well. On the average, he drills nine exploratory wells before he finds one that yields anything at all. Those engaged in the risky business of finding adequate supplies of gas for the future should be encouraged at every opportunity. Without the incentive of a profit in keeping with the risks involved, producers cannot be expected to continue exploring for new gas fields, and...

CHECK EMERGENCY FARM
FIRE-FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

The best time to fight a fire is long before it ever starts. That's the whole point to Spring Clean-Up, says Howard F. Simmons, County Extension Agent.

The first line of defense is a clean home and farm, fire-safe construction including a safe heating plant, and fire-resistant roofing. The second line of defense is farm fire fighting equipment that should be handy and regularly checked to make sure it is in good working condition.

County Agent Simmons advised farmers to have these emergency items on hand at all times:

1. An adequate supply of water for fire trucks and portable pumps.
2. Approved fire extinguishers conveniently placed near all danger spots—the barn, machine shed, and storage tanks of gasoline and kerosene. Extinguishers should be recharged when recommended by the manufacturer.
3. Garden hose and water buckets in various places in and around building.

4. Ladders to reach the highest roof tops and windows. And don't forget the silo.

5. A pump tank or sprayer, fire swatter, wet brooms, or wet burlap bags to fight field fires. For safety reasons, too, the Mississippi Agricultural Extension Service urges you to have your chimneys cleaned once a year. Another job that is best handled by a specialist, sparks flying out of sooty, clogged chimneys onto quick burning wood shingle roofs are among the major causes of home fires, according to Simmons.

In most communities the fire department, upon request, will be glad to check your home and farm for hazards. Such an inspection, even without a fire, can save you grief as well as dollars in fire waste.

Simmons also urges that no farm should be without a supply of fire extinguishers and other fire fighting equipment placed where they can do the most good. Be sure to have each fire extinguisher tested periodically and recharged as required. Any dealer is normally prepared to service the equipment that he sells and your fire department can help on this, too.

PLAUDITS REDUCTION OF FOREST FIRES

State Forester Jim Craig, pleased at the public's response to the combined efforts on forest fire prevention, said today that "People are at last realizing the great and costly damage that forest fires do to growing timber and the income obtained from these trees."

Mississippians have cut the number of wild forest fires by one-third during the past nine months as compared to Mississippi Forestry Commission records for the same period in 1953-54.

Rainfall may have come at more beneficial times for forest fire control this year than last but this fact should not dim the favorable light cast on Mr. Average Citizen since there was plenty of opportunity weatherwise for more fires to have occurred.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled by nearly every joint in my body and with muscular torments from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were so set.

United space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me, I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

SCIENCE NOW CLOSING IN ON INSECTS THAT RAVAGE THE NATION'S CORNFIELDS

Modern science is closing in on the insects that ravage this nation's corn crop. According to Jesse W. Ingram, USDA entomologist in charge of nation wide research on such pests, the corn bugs are in for trouble.

New projects to find ways to control the two remaining insects, sugarcane beetle and lesser corn stalk borers, for which no successful control has been developed, and the most damaging to corn are being launched this spring by the department of agriculture.

The research will be directed and coordinated by Ingram from a national headquarters at Mississippi State College.

SJA Juniors Capture Basketball Intramurals

The annual high school basketball intramurals, held in the SJA gym for the benefit of the Bishop's Relief Fund, climaxed the many months of preparation on the part of the high school girls in the basketball field.

In the first event of the evening, the senior Rebels took on the sophomore Sailorettes. Even though the sophomores put forth their best of smooth ball playing and clear thinking, the senior players edged them out in the last few minutes by four points.

In the second encounter, the Cowgirls of the junior class proved their "stuff" in defeating the Freshie Pirates by a large margin.

The first game of the finals, featuring the evenly matched junior Cowgirls and senior Rebels, was a chuck full of excitement throughout the entire game. With the assistance of experienced players Jeannette Monti, Patti Olavarrieta, Christi del Carmen, Dianne Seuzeneau and Gaydell Cue, and the hard playing of Patsy Shadoin, Elodie Brechtel, Pam Crasto, Doodie Scaife, Dorothy Larroux, Mankie Ladner, Grace Curet and Lucia Duboux, the Rebels were able to give the Cowgirls their hardest contest of the evening. However, the sharp shooting of Laurie Curet, Jane Favre, Carolyn Ladner and Janet Genin, and the close guarding of Diane Blanchard, Flo Roger, Andre Schick and Sheila Heitzmann were too much for the Rebels, who succumbed 45-52.

Piloting the sophomores were varsity players Allie Morris, Helen Genin and Julie Blanchard. Catherine Matherne, Pat Bourgeois, Flo Morris, Connie Bogran and Jean Achley were responsible for the hard playing and close guarding that almost defeated the Rebels.

With most of the Junior Varsity team on the roster for the Freshie Pirates, the Juniors had more than a little trouble in the first and second quarters of their game. Barbara Kidd, Tootsie Saucier, Pat Kingston and Anne Ferry chalked up the points for the Freshies, while Karen Christenson, Myra Monti, Peggy Kergosien and Gay Rhodes held the juniors down to few goals throughout the first quarter.

An extra impetus for their classes to win and the source of all the "rafter-rumblings" yells were the cheerleaders, who were chosen by their respective classes. Representing the seniors were Dolly Rose Morgan and Diane Smith; the juniors, Shirley Miller, Jean Fitzpatrick and Cynthia Brown; the sophomores, Pat Horlock, Kay Cabell and Maria Duboux; and the freshies, Sheila Kerrigan, Emily Delph, Margaret Baird and Barbara Carver.

As a result of their victory, each member of the junior team received a little plastic basketball with SJA inscribed on it. The class also received the distinction of being the second to have their name, "Juniors of '55," inscribed on the Perpetual Plaque.

FRED WELLING, popular radio star of WVMI says, "My wife has always used light Karo for cooking...and on the table—it's dark Karo for me, the best-tasting eating syrup of 'em all'

Yes, indeed...biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious dark Karo...there's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night...it tops anything!

May Fellowship Day Is Scheduled Here Tomorrow

May Fellowship day will be celebrated Friday, May 6, with a service of the United Church Women at the First Baptist Church, Main St., at 10 a.m.

In connection with the annual observance of May Fellowship Day, a nationwide study of Christian life at home and in the community is being undertaken by the National Church Women's Organ-and political responsibilities are making disquieting headlines. We believe no community project is more important than that of helping families to be more secure in themselves and more aware of their responsibility to others.

Leaders in the churches and in public life have come to recognize the influence of the family both in building religious faith and in creating the moral atmosphere of the nation.

Through our studies and discussions this spring," she added, "we hope an increasing number of church families will come to understand how they can put their Christian convictions into action to make their homes happier and their communities better places to live."
